Mr. Hugo Zeckendorf is something of an inventive genius. One of his latest evolvings is an improved pick handle. The improvement consists of a wedge by which the handle is retained in position. One of the advantages offered is the ease by which the handle can be taken out and replaced. It is understood that several firms back east have agreed to manufacture on the basis of a royalty.—Tucson Citizen.

The Workmen are going to lay the corner-stone of their new hall on February 22. The ceremonies will be public and the event imposing. The A. O. U. W. hall will, with the exception of the new cathedral, be the largest and most costly building in the city. The laying of the corner-stone will be an event of no little importance and should call out a large number of witnesses.—Tucson Citizen.

The wool season is here and the sheep camps adjacent to Phoenix are lively. One car of wool was shipped over the Santa Fe this morning to Boston and another car is on the M. & P. tracks awaiting shipment to Los Vegas. A rough estimate places the number of cars of wool that will be shipped from the valley this season at about fifty. There are now over 150,000 head of sheep in the valley, nearly all from the northern counties.—Herald.
